

LUKE & EMILY

Dear Birthmother,

We appreciate so much your taking the time to view our profile. We are Emily and Luke and we live on a island off the coast of Maine in the middle of a national park with mountains, the ocean and great schools right in our back yard.

It is our hope to grow our family through adoption as we would like nothing more than to share the life we love here in Maine with a child.

We have great respect for you and the difficult and brave choices you are considering for your child. It is our hope to have an open adoption so that your child may always know where they come from and the love you have for them. We welcome the opportunity to talk with you, and answer any questions you may have for us.

We have been together for over 12 years and feel grateful everyday to have found such solid partners and friends in each other.

Born and raised in Maine, Emily now works as a Registered nurse at a nearby hospital. Interested in all aspects of health and wellness Emily also teaches yoga and is a licensed massage therapist. When she's not working Emily can be found doing yoga at her home studio, outside in the woods, on the beach, on the mountain tops, or enjoying being on the ocean with Luke. From a young age Emily has delighted in and enjoyed being in the company of little ones and she cannot wait to welcome a child into our home.

Luke is a lobster fisherman who grew up visiting the islands of Maine in the summer time and always knew one day he would call this beautiful part of the country home. Luke adores the fact that his “office” is the wide open ocean and his “cubicle” is his boat. Being part of a historic industry, working outdoors in nature, and being surrounded by the beauty of the nearby islands is something Luke feels grateful for. When he is not on the water or climbing mountains, he enjoys volunteering as an Emergency Medical Technician and organizing and playing community games of basketball and softball. Adopted himself at birth, Luke feels he will be able to share a special bond with a child who joins our family through adoption.

Our nephews are two of the greatest little guys we know! being in their lives and watching them grow, getting to spend time with them, catching fish off the dock, camping out on other small islands, making s'mores and goofing around are some of our favorite memories. We love being Auntie and Uncle to these boys as well as to our friends many little ones.

Climbing the nearby mountains and looking out at the view over the ocean is one of our favorite past times.

We also enjoy: cooking, hiking, skiing, gardening, boating, reading, traveling to far way places for adventures and traveling to close by cities like New York, Boston and Baltimore to spend time with family and friends.

We love being cozy in front of the wood stove with our cats in the winter and spending time in the sun on our porch in the summer.

Thank you for taking the time to view our profile. We hope this gives you an idea of the life we hope to share one day with a child. If you would like more information on us, or would like the opportunity to talk, please don't hesitate to reach out.

In gratitude,
~Emily and Luke
