

Pam & Casey

Dear Birthmother,

First, we want to offer to you our respect and deep appreciation. We hope you are feeling well physically and emotionally as you read this letter. Secondly, we share our gratitude to you in taking the time to read and review a snapshot of our life together; a life that we welcome you into and hope you choose to participate in. We are confident that you know what is best for both you and your child and hope to assure you that we are ready and eager to welcome a child into our loving, nurturing, laugh out loud, silly family.

We can only try to understand the decision that is before you and promise to keep you in our prayers as you come to the best decision for you and your child. Thank you for getting to know us a little better. We hope that in getting to know us a little, you may find greater peace and confidence in your decision to allow us to continue the gift of a providing a loving, safe, nurturing and fun life for your child.

Casey and I met by random chance at a restaurant. We were both waiting for our friends and struck up a conversation. Lucky for us, our friends were late and we had time to chat further. We quickly felt a connection and exchanged numbers to stay in touch. To my dismay, I learned that Casey was only visiting from out of state and thought that I had just had a lovely conversation with a great guy.

We maintained steady phone contact and our bond intensified and we began taking road trips to visit one another. It became evident that we had met our soul mate and partner in life and I moved from Florida to Louisiana to be with my future husband and his two girls. We were engaged and married quickly thereafter and have created a beautiful foundation and life for our family. It amazes us both how natural and easy our relationship is; we believe the mark of true respect and love for each other and our family.

CASEY

I work as a Nurse Anesthetist, primarily in labor and delivery. My job allows me great flexibility to be an extremely active parent, participating in all the girls' many activities both in and out of school. I love a project! . There isn't a time when I don't have a project, like building the girls loft bunk beds or our fur baby, Brady, a new dog bed.

My family is my top priority, but I also like to share my playfulness and creativity with the community. I started a wrestling team at the local High School several years ago and continue to volunteer there to this day. When I'm not sporting a tiara, I mentor to many youth and adults in the community as a Brazilian Jiu Jitsu instructor.

PAM

I grew up in New England and have a passion for the outdoors. I love hiking, running, riding bikes and being in nature. I am a mental health therapist. I have spent my career assuring that those suffering with a mental health diagnosis, homelessness, substance abuse issues or disease enjoy the best quality of life and are treated with dignity, respect and compassion. I am a helper by nature and am always looking for opportunities to make people smile.

My career has allowed me decades of experience working with children; primarily that were adopted and/or in the foster care system and I have always known I would take that journey to motherhood.

ASHLEY & LANEY

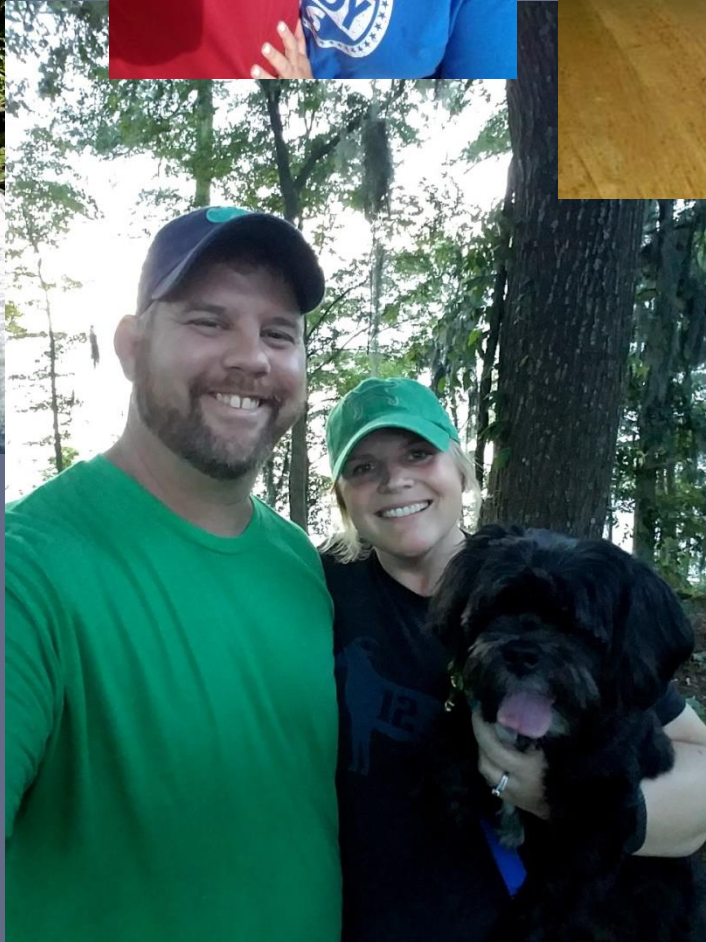

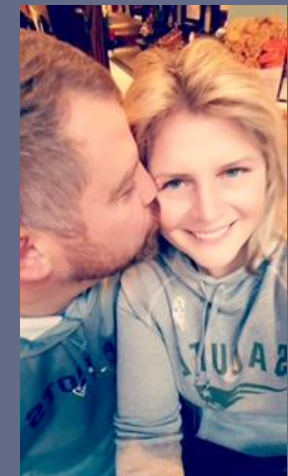

Ashley and Laney are excited to welcome another sibling into the home. They are great friends and extremely loving and playful with each other. They will make exceptional big sisters!

HOME SWEET HOME

We live in a family friendly neighborhood that has a park, pool and ballfields that we walk or bike to frequently. Our community is rich in family events that we regularly participate in. We often take road trips to find new adventures and explore new sights as a family.

LOVE

BRADY

Brady (the fur baby dog) LOVES the girls and being with them wherever they are. He has LOTS of wet kisses and games of chase, fetch and tug of war to play with a new addition to our family.

FAMILY

Thank you for considering us!

With love and sincerity,

Pam and Casey
